“Fairies’ Night Dance”

By: Grace Sullivan

Grade: 5

School: St. Francis Xavier

Out in the deep dark sky
The specks of silver and gold.
With the bright, full moon that shimmers
And the owls, strong and old.

The shadows of the trees
Dance in the twilight.
Glistening rays that stream
Blowing on one perfect night.

Out in the constellations light flows
Casting down on the ground.
Illuminating under the sky,
What no one has yet found.

A fairy dance, out in the dark
The moon as their spotlight.
Violet costumes that shine like sparks
Their wings are so delicate and white.

They have technique so extravagant
They do their pirouettes.
The air so quiet and pure
Their crescent silhouette.

As they do their tricks and turns
They see the yellow sun.
They fly back to their household
And there the dance is done.
